

Who we are

ConQuaestor was founded on 1 April 2004 following a management buy-out. We are finance professionals, consultants and interim managers who emphasise practical solutions. We are about improving business, not writing reports.

ConQuaestor has grown into a mature financial services firm, with over 600 specialists in various finance and consulting disciplines, within specific industries or exclusively at key clients. We are an independent supplier of advisory services, finance solutions and management consulting. Our managers and partners are not mere knowledge brokers, but are skilled professionals in finance, process management and consulting.

Our core business can be summarised as: Lead, Organise, Execute

Lead involves mapping out and following your course. Our interim managers and consultants provide practical solutions aimed at increasing enterprise performance at higher management levels in organisations and divisions. These include finance and performance management, turn around strategies and change management, all with our financial expertise and skilled, sharp view of facts and figures.

Organise refers to organisational processes and systems. We stress processes instead of departments as most processes have a scope beyond the department borders. We improve financial, management, and supporting (IT) processes geared towards increasing effectiveness and efficiency.

Execute is perhaps the most important aspect: doing. Pre-audits, consolidation, ERP selection and implementation and successful improvement initiatives are just a sampling of the processes we help execute. It is never about just giving advice. Practical solutions to problems, realising a project, achieving a specific result, even taking over key processes: this is what ConQuaestor does.

Our vision

ConQuaestor strives for sustainable success through the development of long term relationships with clients, staff and suppliers. ConQuaestor is a professional organisation who does not believe in chasing quick and easy success, but in supporting talented individuals who achieve their goals through continuous skill and knowledge development, hard work and building excellent client relationships.

ConQuaestor supports organisations in management, processes and finance. Our services are aimed at solutions that improve our clients' enterprise performance. We help improve operating results through consulting and support and by taking over specific risks (outsourcing).

The Board and partners are themselves skilled finance specialists who take an active role with clients and projects. The Board and partners are also the owners of the firm. We therefore understand entrepreneurship which gives us essential knowledge of business activities and the effect of implementing our advice. We actively assess how our clients and colleagues value our organisation and services by performing an annual survey.

To put all this in plain English: "Not just working together with fun colleagues for exciting clients, but actually accomplishing something real. That's what gives us energy."
